Soviet Policy to Depend Entirely on Japan's Sincerity in Occupation, War Chief Avers NAVY LEAGUE SUPPORTS BLAST AGAINST HOOVER

ALL MEMBERS OF COMMITTEE EXCEPT ONE SIGN STATEMENT

PRESIDENT OF LEAGUE MAKES NO MENTION OF APOLOGY DEMANDED BY HOOVER

Washington, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—The Navy league executive committee by a vote of 7 to 1 today supported the charges recently brought against President Hoover by the league's president, William Howard Gardiner.

The league issued a statement of its action. It was signed by all members of the executive committee except Henry Breckenridge of New York, who previously had "disassociated" himself from Gardiner's charge that Mr. Hoover was "abysmally ignorant" of naval affairs.

Gardiner issued an independent statement in which he made no mention of the apology demanded by President Hoover.

"I wrote the pamphlet published by the Navy league on October 28 in the best of good faith," Gardiner said.

"I wrote it in the hope that it would bring home to my fellow countrymen and to our selected representatives in the executive and legislative branches of our government, what I sincerely believe to be the very serious condition that confronts our country."

Meanwhile the president's committee met for the first time.

Mr. Hoover's committee discussed procedure and expected to elect a chairman. It was understood all meetings would be secret but that an early report would be made.

PROBE FAILS TO THROW LIGHT ON KOEHRING DEATH

SEARCH FOR MORE EVIDENCE IN ST. PAUL FROM WHERE HE WAS RETURNING

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—With more than 1,000 persons crowding inside the Grace Reformed church here yesterday afternoon, funeral services were conducted for Phillip A. Koehring, Milwaukee manufacturer who was found shot to death in his car near Mauston October 31.

Hundreds of persons who were unable to find room inside waited on the church lawn and sidewalks during the services which lasted nearly two hours.

Mauston, Wis., Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Private investigators and Juneau county officials today studied results of their latest investigation in an attempt to determine activities of Phillip A. Koehring between the time he left Mauston in his car Oct. 31 and when he was found dead in a field 12 miles east of here.

Search for further evidence to show whether the bullet found in Koehring's head was fired by Koehring or by murderers led today toward St. Paul, Minn., from where he was returning to Milwaukee when he died, and to Minoqua, Wis., where he had been hunting before going to St. Paul.

Condition of brakes on Koehring's automobile and a test by Vinopal showed that if Koehring had died on the road and slumped down in his seat with his foot on the brake the car would have been directed off the road in the direction in which it went Oct. 31, and would have coasted to a spot approximately where it was found.

Another test showed the rifle would not have been discharged if it had been jarred in the car or if it had fallen and the hammer been caught either on the upholstery or as Koehring attempted to catch the gun.

Appeal Reapportionment Case to Supreme Court

St. Paul, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Appeal of the Minnesota congressional reapportionment case to the United States supreme court will follow the formality of asking a stay of judgement, W. Yale Smiley, Minneapolis taxpayer who brought the suit, announced today.

The state supreme court late Wednesday formally affirmed the judgement entered in Ramsey county district court following Judge Gustavus Loevinger's decision holding the reapportionment act valid. This action had to be taken before the case could be appealed.

Artificial gold made of an alloy of aluminum and copper has been made in Sheffield, England.

Kentucky Official Shot in Street Fight

Bowling Green, Ky., Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, former lieutenant governor and former adjutant general of Kentucky, was shot and seriously wounded in a street fight today.

W. K. Dent, a republican campaign worker, was arrested for the shooting. There had been ill feeling between the two over the election, officials said.

Denhardt, a democrat, became nationally known in the Newport, Ky., steel strike of 1922 when he commanded militia sent there during outbreaks of shooting and other violence.

MAC DONALD NAMES PERSONNEL OF NEW BRITISH CABINET

PHILIP SNOWDEN, RETIRING CHANCELLOR, MADE LORD PRIVY SEAL

London, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—The reorganized cabinet formed by Premier Ramsay MacDonald was announced tonight.

Neville Chamberlain was selected as chancellor of the exchequer.

Philip Snowden, retiring chancellor of the exchequer, was made lord privy seal, foreshadowing his elevation to the peerage.

Stanley Baldwin, leader of the conservative party, was made lord president of the council.

Sir John Simon, liberal, was made foreign secretary.

Sir Walter Runciman, liberal, becomes president of the board of trade. Sir Herbert Samuel, successor to David Lloyd George as leader of the parliamentary liberal party, was given the important post of home secretary.

Sir Samuel Hoare, conservative, remains as secretary of state for India and J. H. Thomas, national laborite, as dominion secretary.

Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister was made colonial secretary. Lord Hailsham was secretary and Lord Londonderry, air minister.

Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell becomes first lord of the admiralty.

Other appointments included:

Sir E. Hilton Young, health minister; Sir Donald MacLean, education; Lord Sankey, lord chancellor; Sir Archibald Sinclair, secretary of state for Scotland; Sir Henry Betterton, labor; Major W. G. A. Ormsby-Gore, first commissioner of works; Sir John Gilmour, agriculture and fisheries.

GRAPE CONCENTRATE SALE DISCONTINUED BY FRUIT INDUSTRIES

WHITE HOUSE DENIES ANY CONNECTION WITH DISCONTINU- ANCE OF CONCENTRATE SALE

Washington, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Donald Conn, managing director of Fruit Industries, Ltd., told the United Press today that Fruit Industries was discontinuing its sale of "Vine Glo" grape concentrate, effective immediately.

Other activities of Fruit Industries which include the sale of grape jellies, sauces and similar products, will be continued.

The action was taken because recent court decisions, notably in Kansas City, cast doubt on the legality of "Vine Glo."

"We felt," Conn said, "that because of this interpretation and our relations to the Federal Farm board it was advisable to discontinue the Vine-Glo business."

Walter Newton and Theodore Joslin, secretaries to President Hoover, when questioned denied that the White House had connection with the discontinuance of the sale of the concentrate.

WOMAN JUROR IN FOSHAY CASE NOT LISTED IN PANEL

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS IN- VESTIGATING HOW MRS. CLARK WAS PLACED ON JURY

Minneapolis, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Government officials today investigated the possibility that the name of Mrs. Genevieve A. Clark only woman member of the Foshay jury was chosen for jury duty outside the regular channels.

It was Mrs. Clark's vote for acquittal that deadlocked the jury in the mail fraud charges against Wilbur E. Foshay and six business associates. Special Prosecutor Fred Horowitz has charged that Mrs. Clark was in contempt of court for failing to reveal that she had been employed by the Foshay company.

Joel M. Dickey clerk of the federal district court, said that the name of Mrs. Clark was written on the slip in the election box in his handwriting, but that he did not remember why he placed it in the box.

"The customary way of getting jury lists is from the county district court and I don't know why I wrote her name on a slip and put it in the box," Dickey said.

George H. Hemperley, clerk of the Hennepin county, said today that the list of names to be submitted to the federal authorities for choosing a panel was composed entirely of men.

Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye ordered Mrs. Clark to appear in court Monday to disclose why she should not be held in contempt of court in connection with failing to reveal her connections with the Foshay company.

Horowitz charged that Mrs. Clark and her husband D. D. Clark were acquainted with Palmer Mabry, one of the defendants.

EAGER TO MAINTAIN RELATIONS WITH CHINA AND JAPAN

WAR CHIEF CONDEMNS REPORTS OF CONCENTRATIONS IN MAN- CHURIA AS "NONSENSE"

Editor's Note: Japan and China are engaged in warlike maneuvers and the sound of battle reverberates in Manchuria.

Russia, the vast land of the Soviets, is vitally interested.

Its policy and position toward the Manchurian struggle are authoritatively set forth in an interview granted the United Press by Soviet War Commissar Klementi Voroshilov who is outtrunked in the communist state only by Stalin. It is the first time he has spoken for the press, and his views are important at a time when the world is asking, "Will Russia join with China in a war on Japan?"

World Copyright 1931 by United Press Moscow, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Klementi Voroshilov, Soviet war commissar, told the United Press exclusively today that Russia's policy toward Japanese occupation of Manchuria will depend "entirely upon the sincerity of Japan's desire to maintain neighborly relations with us."

Voroshilov answered questions without hesitation in connection with the Japanese occupation of Manchuria and the possibility of a conflict with Soviet interests which would draw the communist government into the controversy.

The war commissar, who directs the Russian army of some 600,000 men or more, spoke candidly. Referring to a statement in the Moscow press quoting United States Congressman Fred A. Britten as charging the Soviet with mobilizing of great land, naval and air forces near Manchuria, Voroshilov denounced the charge as "inciting and brazen."

"There is nothing like a movement of troops in the vicinity of Manchuria," the war commissar said. "The Soviets have never helped nor are they helping the Chinese or Japanese in Manchuria."

The vigorous, ruddy faced war chief, whose power is second only to that of Josef V. Stalin, sat behind his overladen desk and hammered home these points:

1. Russia is anxious to preserve friendly relations with Japan and China.

2. Reports of Russian concentrations near Manchuria are "nonsense."

3. Russia's policies would never collaborate in "partition of China."

4. Russia's policies are incompatible with occupation for intervention.

5. The U. S. position toward the Manchurian crisis is "vague and equivocal."

6. The "sincerity of effectiveness of the League of Nations' efforts to keep peace in Manchuria is very dubious," he held.

Soviet Assistance Necessary

"The Soviets believe that so-called assistance is tantamount to direct intervention and would result in partitioning of China and suppression of Chinese independence. The Soviets would be committing a crime if they undertook the partition of China. We have no doubt the so-called great powers would rejoice if we collaborated in China's partition but the Soviet Union would never adopt such a policy. The Soviet's peaceful policy is incompatible with methods of occupation and intervention."

"However, the decisive point is the peaceful policy of the Soviets," he continued. "The Soviets respect the independence and the sovereign rights of China." He left no doubt that he viewed the possibility of effective action by the League of Nations in the conflict with deepest pessimism.

Looks to Arms Conference

In concluding the interview, he reaffirmed the Soviet attitude toward the 1931 world disarmament conference. "We approach the conference with a spirit of seriousness and loyalty," he said. "If the least possibility arises to limit arms, we are ready to do so, but if the conference—like many others—becomes a mere platform for empty phrases, our delegates as usual will expose them mercilessly. We stand by our previous declarations in favor of universal and complete disarmament."

Miners Riot as Union Agitators Incite Mob

Higginsville, Mo., Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Three hundred miners rioted today as union agitators from Excelsior Springs, Lexington, Richmond and several from here sought to induce the men to stop work. The riot occurred at the edge of town as the miners were on their way to work. Several were injured in the fighting.

EXTRA!

Freddie Mraz, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Mraz, 613 South 9th Street, was reported near death this afternoon with a .22 calibre bullet in his stomach, lodged there by the accidental discharge of a gun he was cleaning in the basement of his home at 3:15 p. m. today.

The boy lapsed into unconsciousness shortly after the accident. He bled profusely until doctors arrived. A consultation was held to determine if he could safely be removed to the St. Joseph's hospital for an operation in an attempt to remove the bullet.

He was taken to the hospital at 3:50 p. m.

Freddie is a student at the Washington high school.

RELEASE EIGHT TO TEN MILLIONS SOON TO ENABLE FARMERS TO KEEP CORN OFF MARKET UNTIL PRICES JUSTIFY SALE

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Eight to ten million dollars in credit to help farmers keep their corn off the market until prices justify, will be made available when the National Corn Credit corporation begins functioning within ten days, it was learned today.

Can Hold Corn

Two of the middle western corn states will not, however, share in the full benefits of the credit plan because they have no state grain storage laws. As a result, a movement is under way in one of the states, Nebraska, to call a one day special session of the state legislature to enact such a law. A similar move is being considered in the other state, Indiana.

Grain storage laws in force at present in Illinois, Iowa and North and South Dakota, will enable corn growers of those states to obtain credit advances on their grain without its removal from bins.

Incorporated for $2,500,000 under the Illinois agricultural cooperative act of 1923, the National Corn Credit corporation will have as stockholders a Federal Farm board affiliate and an imposing list to Chicago banks and middle western livestock, implement and mail order companies.

The Farmers National Grain corporation, financed by the Federal Farm board, has subscribed to $500,000 of the capital stock. The commercial organizations have agreed to match that subscription. Corn belt farm organizations are expected to take additional stock.

Loan Amounts Undetermined

Although the amount which farmers may borrow on their corn's market value has not been finally determined, the United Press learned that it will be at least 60 per cent and probably 75 per cent—ample in the opinion of observers to provide real relief.

RAIL LABOR HEADS SEEK CONFERENCE WITH EXECUTIVES

NATIONAL MEETING WOULD SEE WAGES AND UNEMPLOYMENT AS PRINCIPAL TOPICS

Washington, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Railway labor leaders decided today to prolong their Washington "war council" in the hope that their proposal for a national conference on wages and unemployment would be answered promptly by the railroad executives.

The brotherhood executives have been encouraged by the acknowledgment of their request by R. H. Ashton, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, who agreed to speedy consideration of the proposal.

Ashton, saying the association, as such, had no jurisdiction over the questions raised, referred the suggestion to L. F. Loree, representing eastern carriers; W. R. Cole, representing southern carriers; and J. W. Higgins, acting for the western roads. No reply has been received from this special committee.

D. E. Robertson, president of the Railway Labor Executives' association, said he preferred to settle the question on a national basis rather than through regional conferences with roads of the various sections.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Postponement of hearing of charges against the state railroad and warehouse commission was announced today by Governor Floyd B. Olson. The hearing was postponed until Nov. 17 at the request of Tom Davis, attorney for the Farmers Union Terminal Association.

SEES PLANES CROSSING ATLANTIC IN FIVE HOURS WITHIN NEXT TEN YEARS

(Copyright 1931 by United Press)
Paris, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—The possibility of airplanes crossing the Atlantic in five hours within the next 10 years was predicted today by Jacques Louis Dumesnil, French minister of air, in announcing an important French building program of high speed combat planes. The air minister informed the United Press that the government had accepted a new Hispano-Suiza super-compressed airplane motor of 800 horsepower, weighing 1,000 pounds and capable of 350 kilometers (217.3 miles) an hour. France will build a new fleet of combat planes with the super-mo-

WHEAT CONTINUES ADVANCE REACHING NEW SEASON MARKS

SMALL DEALERS ABSENT AS BIG DEALERS BUY AND SELL IN HUGE LOTS

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Wheat weathered the most furious trading session of the season today and closed on a boom note at advances of from 1-8 to 1-4 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade.

It was a speculative market. Small traders were conspicuously absent and the big dealers bought and sold in tremendous lots.

During the session, wheat and other grains touched new high marks for the season and in several instances sold at the highest levels since last spring.

The advance was general in North American markets. Kansas City's closing wheat prices were 1-4 to 1-5 cents above the previous close, Minneapolis reported prices up 1-8 to 1-7 cents, and Winnipeg an advance over yesterday of 1/2 cent a bushel.

There appeared to be little in foreign dispatches to account for the continued rise in prices. At the top, wheat showed a gain of 23 cents over the low of Oct. 5, when it sold for less than it had in 30 years.

Export demand was characterized as fair, with 700,000 bushels sold, mostly Manitoba wheat.

Corn was even more mercurial than wheat, mounting to 15 cents higher than recent low marks at today's best showing. Oats and rye also bounced up briskly after setbacks, following messages from the seaboard that export demand was good.

tor next year, he said, adding that the Lorraine Renault and Gnome Rhone concerns would build similar planes.

"The new motors will be a spur to aviation, which has been standing still for several years," he said.

"I predict the possibility of crossing the Atlantic by air in five hours within 10 years, using hermetically-sealed planes traveling at a height of six to 12 miles.

"Internal combustion motors remain superior to oil burners and other types of airplanes propulsion. France will concentrate on that type."

100 CHINESE KILLED IN SKIRMISH WITH JAPANESE AT BRIDGE

LEAGUE DEMANDED BY CHINESE DELEGATE TO ISSUE NEW EVACUATION ORDER

By United Press
The threat of open war in Manchuria became more serious than ever today as Japanese and Chinese forces battled along the Nonni river.

With heavy casualties reported in the fighting, the danger of complications which would involve Soviet Russia because of her extensive interests at Tsitsihar was feared in Tokyo.

The League of Nations was alarmed by the extension of Japanese military activities and the renewal of fighting despite the league council's request that Japan withdraw her forces to a point within the South Manchuria railroad zone by Nov. 16.

Geneva, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Alfred Sze, Chinese delegate to the League of Nations, today demanded that Aristide Briand, acting president of the council, urgently demand that Japan end the activities of her army in Manchuria, full responsibility for which must fall on Japan.

Sze notified Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the league, that more than 100 Chinese were killed in the battle of Nonni bridge. He insisted the Chinese were bombed by Japanese the preceding day.

Japan notified the council that the Japanese were repairing the Nonni bridge and would take defensive measures if attacked. The troops, however, will be withdrawn as soon as the repairs are completed, Japan advised.

Mukden, Manchuria, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Japanese troops carried several Chinese strongholds in a battle with Helungkiang forces along a five mile front in Manchuria today, in the most alarming warfare of the present far eastern crisis.

Important strategic positions east of Tpehich were taken by the Japanese after a terrific attack on the left wing of the Chinese, stationed along the Nonni river. They turned their next offensive on the northwest position of the Chinese and heavy fighting ensued.

Two Japanese companies attacking the left wing reached the line of Chinese defenses at 10 a. m., but encountered a strong force of 3,000 Helungkiang troops.

The tide of battle turning against them because of superior Japanese strength, Chinese commanders called for emergency reinforcements of artillery and infantry from Changchun.

VALLEY DAIRYMEN VOTE TO CONTINUE TESTING, 4-H WORK

OTHER RESOLUTIONS FAVOR STATE INCOME TAX AND PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE

Fergus Falls, Minn., Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Resolutions favoring continuation of state appropriations for cow testing and 4-H club work were passed unanimously today by the Red River Valley Dairymen's Association meeting in convention.

Other resolutions passed included demands for a state income tax and inheritance taxes as replacement for other taxes and urged support of the income tax amendment.

Independence for the Philippines and an amendment to the marketing act to include the equalization provision of the McNary Haugen bill were urged.

Completion of the Ottertall county area tuberculosis test will show less than one half of one per cent of the 111,000 cattle in the county show a reaction, it was announced.

The report means that the county can be certified as tuberculosis free without a retest. A number of residents of the county sought to obtain an injunction against the test declaring it had been authorized fraudulently.

In many townships there was not a single infected animal, veterinarians reported.

4. Russia's policies are incompatible with occupation for intervention.

5. The U. S. position toward the Manchurian crisis is "vague and equivocal."

6. The "sincerity of effectiveness of the League of Nations" efforts to keep peace in Manchuria is very dubious," he held.

Soviet Assistance Necessary

"The Soviets believe that so-called assistance is tantamount to direct intervention and would result in partitioning of China and suppression of Chinese independence. The Soviets would be committing a crime if they undertook the partition of China. We have no doubt the so-called great powers would rejoice if we collaborated in China's partition but the Soviet Union would never adopt such a policy. The Soviet's peaceful policy is incompatible with methods of occupation and intervention."

"However, the decisive point is the peaceful policy of the Soviets," he continued. "The Soviets respect the independence and the sovereign rights of China." He left no doubt that he viewed the possibility of effective action by the League of Nations in the conflict with deepest pessimism.

Looks to Arms Conference

In concluding the interview, he reaffirmed the Soviet attitude toward the 1931 world disarmament conference.

"We approach the conference with a spirit of seriousness and loyalty," he said. "If the least possibility arises to limit arms, we are ready to do so, but if the conference—like many others—becomes a mere platform for empty phrases, our delegates as usual will expose them mercilessly. We stand by our previous declarations in favor of universal and complete disarmament."

Miners Riot as Union Agitators Incite Mob

Higginsville, Mo., Nov. 5.—(UP)—Three hundred miners rioted today as union agitators from Excelsior Springs, Lexington, Richmond and several from here sought to induce the men to stop work. The riot occurred at the edge of town as the miners were on their way to work. Several were injured in the fighting.

EXTRA!

Freddie Mraz, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Mraz, 613 South 9th Street, was reported near death this afternoon with a .22 calibre bullet in his stomach, lodged there by the accidental discharge of a gun he was cleaning in the basement of his home at 3:15 p. m. today.

The boy lapsed into unconsciousness shortly after the accident. He bled profusely until doctors arrived. A consultation was held to determine if he could safely be removed to the St. Joseph's hospital for an operation in an attempt to remove the bullet. He was taken to the hospital at 3:50 p. m.

Freddie is a student at the Washington high school.

RELEASE EIGHT TO TEN MILLIONS SOON TO ENABLE FARMERS TO KEEP CORN OFF MARKET UNTIL PRICES JUSTIFY SALE

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Eight to ten million dollars in credit to help farmers keep their corn off the market until prices justify, will be made available when the National Corn Credit corporation begins functioning within ten days, it was learned today.

Can Hold Corn

Two of the middle western corn states will not, however, share in the full benefits of the credit plan because they have no state grain storage laws. As a result, a movement is under way in one of the states, Nebraska, to call a one day special session of the state legislature to enact such a law. A similar move is being considered in the other state, Indiana.

Grain storage laws in force at present in Illinois, Iowa and North and South Dakota, will enable corn growers of those states to obtain credit advances on their grain without its removal from bins.

RAIL LABOR HEADS WHEAT CONTINUES SEEK CONFERENCE ADVANCE REACHING WITH EXECUTIVES NEW SEASON MARKS

NATIONAL MEETING WOULD SEE
WAGES AND UNEMPLOYMENT
AS PRINCIPAL TOPICS

Washington, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Railway labor leaders decided today to prolong their Washington "war council" in the hope that their proposal for a national conference on wages and unemployment would be answered promptly by the railroad executives.

The brotherhood executives have been encouraged by the acknowledgment of their request by R. H. Ashton, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, who agreed to speedy consideration of the proposal. Ashton, saying the association, as such, had no jurisdiction over the questions raised, referred the suggestion to L. F. Loree, representing eastern carriers; W. C. Cole, representing southern carriers, and J. W. Higgins, acting for the western roads. No reply has been received from this special committee.

D. E. Robertson, president of the Railway Labor Executives' association, said he preferred to settle the question on a national basis rather than through regional conferences with roads of the various sections.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—(UP)—Postponement of hearing of charges against the state railroad and warehouse commission was announced today by Governor Floyd B. Olson. The hearing was postponed until Nov. 17 at the request of Tom Davis, attorney for the Farmers Union Terminal Association.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Wheat weathered the most furious trading session of the season today and closed on a boom note at advances of from 1-8 to 1-4 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade.

It was a speculative market. Small traders were conspicuously absent and the big dealers bought and sold in tremendous lots.

During the session, wheat and other grains touched new high marks for the season and in several instances sold at the highest levels since last spring.

The advance was general in North American markets. Kansas City's closing wheat prices were 1-4 to 1-8 cents above the previous close, Minneapolis reported prices up 1-4 to 1-8 cents, and Winnipeg an advance over yesterday of 1/4 cent a bushel.

There appeared to be little in foreign dispatches to account for the continued rise in prices. At the top, wheat showed a gain of 23 cents over the low of Oct. 5, when it sold for less than it had in 30 years.

Export demand was characterized as fair, with 700,000 bushels sold, mostly Manitoba wheat.

Corn was even more mercurial than wheat, mounting to 15 cents higher than recent low marks at today's best showing. Oats and rye also bounced up briskly after setbacks, following messages from the seaboard that export demand was good.

WHITNEY DONATES OXYGEN INHALATOR TO FIRE DEPT. FIRST AID EQUIPMENT

The Brainerd Fire Department today possessed an H. and H. oxygen inhalator, a valuable adjunct to its first aid equipment for the benefit of people here.

The department received this new equipment as a gift from D. E. Whitney, funeral director, Front street.

The purpose of the inhalator is the administration of oxygen in cases of asphyxiation by smoke, gas, drowning, etc. The machine, carried on the main fire truck, is available for public use by calling the fire department. All drivers are trained in the use of it. Fred A. Reinhardt, driver, who has charge of first aid work here has a U. S. Department of Mines first aid certificate.

"In behalf of the entire department I wish to thank Mr. Whitney for his foresight in helping the fire department to save human life. We sincerely thank him," Fire Chief Frank Fuller said today.

WHITNEY DONATES OXYGEN INHALATOR TO FIRE DEPT. FIRST AID EQUIPMENT

The Brainerd Fire Department today possessed an H. and H. oxygen inhalator, a valuable adjunct to its first aid equipment for the benefit of people here.

The department received this new equipment as a gift from D. E. Whitney, funeral director, Front street.

The purpose of the inhalator is the administration of oxygen in cases of asphyxiation by smoke, gas, drowning, etc.

The machine, carried on the main fire truck, is available for public use by calling the fire department. All drivers are trained in the use of it. Fred A. Reinhardt, driver, who has charge of first aid work here has a U. S. Department of Mines first aid certificate.

"In behalf of the entire department I wish to thank Mr. Whitney for his foresight in helping the fire department to save human life. We sincerely thank him," Fire Chief Frank Fuller said today.

West Oak Lawn

Families Entertain

West Oak Lawn—This community's sympathy goes out to the Borg family in their sorrow, the death of their son Verner.

Mrs. A. J. Andrews and children were Sunday callers at the John Strobel home.

Mrs. Robert Hele entertained 12 guests at her home Wednesday afternoon: Mrs. A. Liners, Mrs. John Strobel and Mrs. Edw. Laughton of West Oak Lawn were among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Laughton and son Joseph visited with relatives at Clearwater recently.

Dads night was a great success. The mothers have charge of the November P. T. A. meeting. They will have to have a good program if they are to beat the dads.

Mrs. A. J. Andrews and Mrs. Jess Britton have been on the sick list the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. George McKay entertained 14 guests at a duck dinner Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. L. Gilbert of Waconia, Minn., were among the guests.

Mrs. Gilbert is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McKay. The children at school had a Halloween party Friday afternoon. There are now 43 pupils enrolled, with 12 new pupils the past month.

Gould-Gray Co. Sells

Property at Gilbert Lake

Gilbert Lake—Mr. Wyatt, who purchased a piece of land from Gould & Gray in section 20 has about finished building his house and moved his family in.

Charles Campbell, who purchased the Dorsette place returned Tuesday from South Dakota with the last load of personal belongings.

NOTED LECTURER TO TELL OF PROBLEMS OF FAR EAST SUNDAY

NO YONG PARK, "ORIENTAL MARK TWAIN," TO SPEAK AT METHODIST CHURCH

A timely and pertinent subject will be treated by No Yong Park, internationally known lecturer on far east problems, in an address at the Methodist church at 7:45 o'clock Sunday night. The topic of his lecture will be "Chinese-Japanese Crisis in Manchuria."

Rev. F. A. Kufus, pastor, in announcing the lecture, said that there will be no admission charge and that the public is invited. A silver offering will be taken.

No Yong Park, heralded as the "Oriental Mark Twain," is a representative of the extension division of the University of Minnesota. His association with far east problems dates back to his birth in Manchuria. He is a graduate of Nanking university, an interdenominational school, and was a prize-winning student in international relations.

Other facts about No Yong Park: He is a graduate of Harvard university and of the University of Minnesota.

Author of "Making a New China," a clear and penetrating exposition on the present-day conditions in China and a frank, vivid and forceful presentation of Nationalist struggle for freedom.

A humorist often characterized as "The Oriental Mark Twain" for his delightful humor and rare gift of expression.

Lecturer on Far Eastern problems who has lectured at about one thousand universities, colleges and secondary schools, and hundreds of civic clubs.

A prize-winning student in international relations, including the International Essay Contest open to all foreign students in American colleges, the Harris Political Science Prize given to students of the leading universities in the middle west, and the Pillsbury Oratorical Contest at the University of Minnesota, competing with the American students in their own language.

MRAZ CANDY BEATS SANDWICH SHOP IN THREE PIN GAMES

MILLS MOTOR WINS TWO FROM TOWN PUMP, DROPPING TIE ENCOUNTER

A tie game was rolled off in favor of the Town Pump last night but their opponents, the Mills Motor, won the other two games of the evening.

Mraz Candy took three games from the Sandwich Shop in the other ten pin games at Van's alleys.

REVIEW SHOWS GAME CLUB HELPED STOCK LAKES AND STREAMS

MILLIONS OF FRY DUMPED IN LAKES; COUNTY TO HAVE GOOD TROUT STREAMS

Reviewing past work of the Crow Wing Game Protective Club, Frank G. Hall, secretary-treasurer of the club, reports the following:

Every year for the past seven years the club has distributed from the Whitefish Pike Hatchery, three to five millions of pike fry and from the Gull Lake Bass Hatchery from 25,000 to 100,000 fingerling bass and about 10,000 sunfish and crappies with the exception of the last two years when this bass hatchery did not function. During these years approximately two and a half carloads of fingerling trout have been distributed which consisted of speckled brook, locheven, German brown and rainbow trout. From reports all trout streams in the county are well stocked with small trout which should provide excellent trout fishing in a few years.

Seven years ago the club put in 300 pheasant eggs and 25 young pheasants. Last fall the club received 25 young pheasants which the club wintered and fed and released this spring.

Windsor Castle in England has gardens covering 70 acres, of which 23 are devoted to vegetables. There is one flower border which is 200 yards long and 15 feet wide on each side of a grass walk.

NOTED LECTURER TO TELL OF PROBLEMS OF FAR EAST SUNDAY

NO YONG PARK. "ORIENTAL MARK TWAIN" TO SPEAK AT METHODIST CHURCH

A timely and pertinent subject will be treated by No Yong Park, internationally known lecturer on far east problems, in an address at the Methodist church at 7:45 o'clock Sunday night. The topic of his lecture will be "Chinese-Japanese Crisis in Manchuria."

Rev. F. A. Kufus, pastor, in announcing the lecture, said that there will be no admission charge and that the public is invited. A silver offering will be taken.

No Yong Park, heralded as the "Oriental Mark Twain," is a representative of the extension division of the University of Minnesota. His association with far east problems dates back to his birth in Manchuria. He is a graduate of Nanking university, an interdenominational school, and was a prize-winning student in international relations.

Other facts about No Yong Park: He is a graduate of Harvard university and of the University of Minnesota.

Author of "Making a New China," a clear and penetrating exposition on the present-day conditions in China and a frank, vivid and forceful presentation of Nationalist struggle for freedom.

A humorist often characterized as "The Oriental Mark Twain" for his delightful humor and rare gift of expression.

Lecturer on Far Eastern problems who has lectured at about one thousand universities, colleges and secondary schools, and hundreds of civic clubs.

A prize-winning student in international relations, including the International Essay Contest open to all foreign students in American colleges, the Harris Stodet Science Prize given to students of the leading universities in the middle west, and the Pillsbury Oratorical Contest at the University of Minnesota, competing with the American students in their own language.

Episcopalians Plan Card Party for Monday
St. Mary's Guild and the Men's club, of St. Paul's Episcopal church, are planning to give a card party in the social rooms of the church Monday evening, November 16, to which all friends of the parish are cordially invited.

Mrs. Frank Sundine is Hostess at Shower

A miscellaneous shower was given for Mrs. Milton Bergstrand last evening by Mrs. Frank Sundine at her home, 702 N. 5th street, which was decorated in autumn colors. Five tables of luncheon were served. Mrs. E. Bloomstrom and Mrs. E. F. Ohm winning first and second prizes. Mrs. Bergstrand was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. The hostess served a delicious luncheon toward the close of the evening.

Lewis-Milne Nuptials Celebrated Saturday

The marriage of Miss Minnie May Milne, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. M. B. Milne of Little Falls, took place in the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lewis, last Saturday. Rev. Lewis and Miss Milne were united by Rev. Milne, Baptist pastor, at 9 o'clock in the evening. During the ceremony, Don David Milne, brother of the bride, played selections on the harp.

Among those from out of town who were present are: Miss Minnie Milne, an aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. John O. Milne and Mrs. James M. Milne, of Duluth; Mrs. Maud Dewey and Mrs. Roy Winking of Sauk Center; Miss Fern Lewis of Minneapolis; Miss Mary Putnam of Little Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nyborg of Long Prairie.

Mrs. M. A. Bronson Entertains Pastors

Covers were laid for 12 at the courtesy dinner given for the members of the Brainerd Ministers' Association by Mrs. M. A. Bronson, The Wigwam, Merrifield, yesterday. The dinner was in honor of her pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Edgar A. Vallant, of the First Baptist church of Brainerd. The appreciation of the ministers was expressed by Rev. A. G. Patterson of the First Presbyterian church. Words of personal appreciation came from Rev. Vallant.

Preceding the dinner, the ministers met in the parlor of the Wigwam for a regular monthly meeting. A number of important matters were presented for discussion. Unanimous action was taken favoring hearty cooperation with the local Red Cross chapter in presenting the work of the organization to the different congregations next Sunday. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the Union Thanksgiving service.

Earl H. Rhodes spoke on "The Experiences of a Border Patrol," and an informal discussion of the speech was enjoyed during the dinner hour.

W. B. A. Organizes Junior Rose Court

The W. B. A. Review No. 10 organized a Junior Rose Court last Saturday, October 31, in the Moose hall. Miss Cordelia Keilen, state supervisor of Girl's Club and Rose Court, was present to assist and instruct in the work. The following officers were elected:

President—Dr. Wane Maistrom.
Vice President—Willard Nubbe.
Secretary—Betty Jane Paine.
Treasurer—Patricia Sewall.
After the business meeting, games were played and refreshments were served. About 25 were present. Six new members were added to the membership list. The next meeting will be held Nov. 28.

Women of the Moose to Meet Friday

Women of the Moose will hold a meeting Friday, Nov. 6, at 7:30 o'clock. A program and entertainment will be given at 8 o'clock.

Fight Smugglers

Duluth, Minn.—An aerial patrol to combat smuggling of aliens and liquor across the Canadian border into the United States is being recommended to the treasury department by Curtis M. Johnson, customs collector for the port of Duluth. He states that five planes, stationed 150 miles apart and operated by instructions from a centrally located radio station, would stop the smuggling.

DRIVERS NEGLECTING LIGHTS AND BRAKES TO GET ARREST TAGS

HIGHWAY PATROL TO CHECK UP ON WILFUL NEGLECT OF FAULTY EQUIPMENT

Where signs of wilful neglect in failing to have serviceable brakes, headlights or tail lights, are apparent, drivers of such vehicles will be given arrest tags in preference to a correction slip, according to an order received here by officers of the Minnesota Highway Patrol.

Prosecutions will follow cases which indicate the drivers wilfully operate vehicles knowing equipment to be faulty.

The officers have been faced in the past in several instances of drivers operating vehicles without any gloves in the light sockets, particularly in regard to tail lights. This practice will not be tolerated by the officers henceforth. A similar rule will be enforced relative to faulty brakes.

To Aid in Washington Bicentennial Observance

Patriotic business and professional men and women of Brainerd are cooperating with the National Commission in promoting the success of The George Washington Bicentennial.

A number of framed copies of the Gilbert Stuart portrait of Washington have been purchased and will be displayed in places of business during the coming nine months celebration. A program is underway to give each school an opportunity to secure a picture of the country's first president.

File Action to Recover Sum in Kidnaper's Safe

St. Paul, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Suit to recover $5,500 found in the safe of Frank Lapre, slain leader of the Leon Gleckman kidnaping gang, was started today against Chief of Police Thomas A. Brown by Mrs. Mae Lapre, the widow.

Police claimed that the money was a portion of the amount paid for Gleckman's release. Mrs. Lapre claimed the money belonged to her husband and that she as administratrix of his estate was entitled to it.

Wisconsin State Prison Quarantined for Smallpox

Waupun, Wis., Nov. 5.—(UP)—Discovery of two cases of smallpox among the inmates today forced quarantine of the state penitentiary here.

Visitors were banned for two weeks and health officers were assigned to aid in preventing spread of the disease.

Because the prison has 1,711 inmates and was built to accommodate 966, officials considered possibility of additional cages serious.

Rev. Wm. Steliwagen to Preach at Ft. Ripley

Fort Ripley.—There will be church services at Fort Ripley Sunday, Nov. 8 at 8 o'clock in the evening. Rev. Wm. Steliwagen is pastor. Everyone is welcome.

The Ausland P. T. A. will meet the evening of November 21. John Canfield of Little Falls is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Alfred Ausland.

Miss Elaine Homer is visiting her cousin, Miss Dorothy Stroming.

Car Knocks Down, Drags Detour Sign 60 Feet

Minnesota Highway Patrol officers searched without success last night for the driver of a vehicle that struck the heavy detour sign at the four mile corner of Oak street. The sign was dragged for 60 feet.

The officers feared that the accident might have severely injured the occupants of the car. A checkup here revealed one hurt in an accident of that nature.

It's a Long Trip

"WE ARE AMERICANS IN OUR OWN RIGHT, AVOID ANCESTRAL CONNECTIONS," SAYS MRS. HERBERT IN CITIZENSHIP TALK

Richest heritage of American citizens is their right to vote declares Mrs. J. H. Herbert, Northeast Brainerd, addressing the Lions club on community citizenship at the regular evening meeting last night.

Using the same text as she expressed before the Minnesota Congress, Parents-Teachers' association, at its annual convention here several weeks ago, Mrs. Herbert emphasized that community citizenship goes farther than just to exercise the privilege of voting in national affairs. "It is just as important, even perhaps for more to the community, to exercise this privilege in the selection of city, county, state and even organization officers," the speaker who is in demand because of her excellent interpretation of community citizenship said.

"The time has past when we classify ourselves as French-Americans, German-Americans or any other ancestral connection," Mrs. Herbert stressed. "We are Americans in our own right and we should declare ourselves to that effect," she stated.

Extra emphasis on the duty of every citizen towards its community brought the speaker's point home to the members of the civic organization Mrs. Herbert scored politics in its nefarious forms saying that after all the guiding genius of destiny was God Almighty.

Going into the different phases of community citizenship, Mrs. Herbert elaborated on how easy it is to become an asset to the community through conscientious effort and not through selfish enterprise.

Mrs. Herbert has been invited to deliver the same address next Monday night at Grand Rapids.

The speaker was introduced by D. C. Gray.

Taking the initiative in promoting the ticket sale for the show to be sponsored by the Paramount theatre for the benefit of the Brainerd Community Relief fund, the Lions club instructor Harry Greenberg, manager of the theatre, to name a committee to work with him. Other organizations will be asked to cooperate in the ticket sale in keeping with the program outlined by the national relief movement, urging that all civic bodies get behind the movement.

A duck dinner featured the evening meeting.

COUNTY BOY WHO SAVED PIG FROM BEAR WINS PRIZE

DARING OF JACK SPORNITZ RECOGNIZED AT JUNIOR LIVESTOCK SHOW

Jack Spornitz, Crow Wing county 4-H club member was one of two to receive prizes for overcoming greatest difficulties in getting their animals to the Junior Livestock Show which closes today at South St. Paul.

Jack entered his pet pig in the show. This pig was nearly clawed to death by a large bear who attacked it one evening at the Spornitz farm. Jack beat the bear off at the risk of personal attack and nursed the pig back to health again.

Vienna Jakela of Beltrami county won first place in this division. Her story is that of the rescue of her calf from a forest fire in Beltrami county that destroyed her home. As her family fled the flames Vienna returned to the barn, rescued her prize calf and for hours wandered through the smoke choked and heat scorched country before she and her calf emerged from danger, unharmed.

Edward Cook, Crow Wing county, placed sixth in the turkey class.

South St. Paul, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Placing of the prize winning entries of some 1,000 Minnesota 4-H club boys and girls on the auction block today brought the Junior Livestock Show to an end.

Actual participation in the show by the young people ended last night when more than 1,800 guests including all the exhibitors attended a dinner in their honor by the St. Paul Association of Commerce.

Irene Mann, Luverne, was awarded two prizes as winner of the baby bee class. As well as an office desk and a wrist watch, she will be awarded a trip to the International Livestock Show at Chicago the latter part of the month.

Addresses by Mayor Gerhardt Bundelle of St. Paul and Lieutenant Governor Henry Ahrens, Jordan featured the dinner program. Ahrens distributed the awards. A musical and vaudeville program was presented.

The grand champion pig brought its owner, Evan Stauffer, Ormsby, $112.50 on the auction block. The pig is a thoroughbred Poland China weighing 375 pounds and was bid in at 30 cents a pound. The pig was bought by the Woodend Farms of St. Bonifacius. The regular market price for pigs is five cents a pound.

The St. Paul Daily News bought the reserve champion pig, a thoroughbred Chester White, exhibited by Hilgar Kirchner, Fulga at 12 cents a pound. The pig weighed 325 pounds, bringing its owner $39.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

"WE ARE AMERICANS IN OUR OWN RIGHT, AVOID ANCESTRAL CONNECTIONS," SAYS MRS. HERBERT IN CITIZENSHIP TALK

Richest heritage of American citizens is their right to vote declares Mrs. J. H. Herbert, Northeast Brainerd, addressing the Lions club on community citizenship at the regular evening meeting last night.

Using the same text as she expressed before the Minnesota Congress, Parents-Teachers' association, at its annual convention here several weeks ago, Mrs. Herbert emphasized that community citizenship goes farther than just to exercise the privilege of voting in national affairs. "It is just as important, even perhaps for more to the community, to exercise this privilege in the selection of city, county, state and even organization officers," the speaker who is in demand because of her excellent interpretation of community citizenship said.

"The time has past when we classify ourselves as French-Americans, German-Americans or any other ancestral connection," Mrs. Herbert stressed. "We are Americans in our own right and we should declare ourselves to that effect," she stated.

Extra emphasis on the duty of every citizen towards its community brought the speaker's point home to the members of the civic organization Mrs. Herbert scored politics in its nefarious forms saying that after all the guiding genius of destiny was God Almighty.

Going into the different phases of community citizenship, Mrs. Herbert elaborated on how easy it is to become an asset to the community through conscientious effort and not through selfish enterprise.

Mrs. Herbert has been invited to deliver the same address next Monday night at Grand Rapids.

The speaker was introduced by D. C. Gray.

Taking the initiative in promoting the ticket sale for the show to be sponsored by the Paramount theatre for the benefit of the Brainerd Community Relief fund, the Lions club instructed Harry Greenberg, manager of the theatre, to name committee to work with him. Other organizations will be asked to cooperate in the ticket sale in keeping with the program outlined by the national relief movement, urging that all civic bodies get behind the movement.

A duck dinner featured the evening meeting.

DARING OF JACK SPORNITZ RECOGNIZED AT JUNIOR LIVESTOCK SHOW

Jack Spornitz, Crow Wing county 4-H club member was one of two to receive prizes for overcoming greatest difficulties in getting their animals to the Junior Livestock Show which closes today at South St. Paul.

Jack entered his pet pig in the show. This pig was nearly clawed to death by a large bear who attacked it one evening at the Spornitz farm. Jack beat the bear off at the risk of personal attack and nursed the pig back to health again.

Vienna Jakala of Beltrami county won first place in this division. Her story is that of the rescue of her calf from a forest fire in Beltrami county that destroyed her home. As her family fled the flames Vienna returned to the barn, rescued her prize calf and for hours wandered through the smoke choked and heat scorched country before she and her calf emerged from danger, unharmed.

Edward Cook, Crow Wing county, placed sixth in the turkey class.

South St. Paul, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Placing of the prize winning entries of some 1,000 Minnesota 4-H club boys and girls on the auction block today brought the Junior Livestock Show to an end.

Actual participation in the show by the young people ended last night when more than 1,800 guests including all the exhibitors attended a dinner in their honor by the St. Paul Association of Commerce.

Irene Mann, Laverne, was awarded two prizes as winner of the baby bee class. As well as an office desk and wrist watch, she will be awarded a trip to the International Livestock Show at Chicago the latter part of the month.

Addresses by Mayor Gerhardt Bundie of St. Paul and Lieutenant Governor Henry Ahrens, Jordan featured the dinner program. Ahrens distributed the awards. A musical and vaudeville program was presented.

The grand champion pig brought its owner, Evan Stauffer, Ormsby, $12.50 on the auction block. The pig is a thoroughbred Poland China, weighing 375 pounds and was bid in at 30 cents a pound. The pig was bought by the Woodend Farms of St. Bonifacius. The regular market price for pigs is five cents a pound.

The St. Paul Daily News bought the reserve champion pig, a thoroughbred Chester White, exhibited by Hilgar Kirchner, Fulga at 12 cents a pound. The pig weighed 325 pounds, bringing its owner $39.

WINNING OF 14 AWARDS AT FAIR HIGHLIGHT OF DAGGETT BROOK 4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

Summarized reports, written by the Senior Leader, of the accomplishments of their 4-H club during the year is as follows:

The Daggett Brook 4-H club was organized last April. This is our first year in club work, but nevertheless our club has accomplished a great deal, which will benefit all the members of the club, and in turn benefits our community and our county.

Fifteen members enrolled and the boys and girls took up the following projects: sewing I and III, canning, bread and cake baking, thrift, home beautification, gardening, potato raising, sheep, and dairy calf. All members of our club completed their projects in the required time which is a credit to both the individual and the 4-H club.

Our club won the first prize offered by the Crow Wing County Farm Bureau in obtaining the most number of Farm Bureau memberships, thereby winning $10. We won first prize on our club booth at the County Fair, entitling us to another $10.

At the County Fair our club won fourteen first prizes, nine second prizes, four third prizes, and one fifth prize, making a total of 28 prizes. Everett Racine won the first prize on his sheep and this entitled him to a free trip to the Junior Livestock Show, November 2-5, at South St. Paul. Elsie Every, one of our leading club members, won many prizes in her bread baking project. She was one of the winners in our Achievement Day program, thereby winning a free trip to the Minnesota State Fair. Miss Every demonstrated at the County Fair and won first prize, and although she was not a winner at the State Fair, she accomplished a great deal.

The members of our club have been very regular in attending our meetings, taking part in special events, and have cooperated with their leader, Mrs. Raymond Kienow, to make this a successful year in 4-H club work. Earl Richolson was their leader when the club first organized. We believe club work has taught us to be independent, honest, and to make the best better at the following members won prizes at the County Fair:

Elsie Every—1st prize on graham bread, raisin bread, parkerhouse rolls and carrots. 2nd prize on beets and peaches. 3rd prize on apricots.

June Whitman—2nd prize on sewing I.

Mildred Vanderwerker—2nd prize on sewing III. 3rd prize on sweet peas. 2nd prize in style show.

Marjorie Gordon—3rd prize on dark cake.

Donald Caughey—1st prize on Irish Cobblers. 1st prize on parsnips. 2nd prize on winter radishes.

Presley Caughey—1st prize on onions. 1st prize on winter radishes.

Thelma Ford—1st prize on Swiss chard. 1st prize on sewing I. 2nd prize on beans.

Vera Ford—2nd prize on Swiss chard. Doris Maust—1st prize on cucumbers. 2nd prize on tomatoes.

Rachel Racine—3rd prize on thrift sewing.

Everett Racine—1st prize on sheep. Franklin Ringering—5th prize on Guernsey calf.

Alva Engelhart—1st prize on Triumph potatoes.

(By Mrs. Raymond Kienow, leader, Daggett Brook 4-H club.)

The Gilbert Lake 4-H club was re-organized on February 9, 1931, with an enrollment of seven members. The seven members carried sixteen projects. Every member finished their work and sent in their reports on time. Six regular meetings were held, and four demonstration meetings held at the homes by members of the demonstration teams. We had two demonstration teams: dairy calf and home beautification. Both won prizes at the County Fair, and the cake and one bread individual demonstration.

We composed a song and yell for our club, also a song and yell to be used in the county. Our girls put on a stunt at the County Fair, also a project booth and helped with the State Fair booth. All members were in attendance at County Fair and Achievement Day. Two members attended the camp at Pequot. Carl Lovsted attended the Junior Short Course and Leo Miller won Grand Championship on his gardening collection at the County Fair, and his garden display at the State Fair won 4th prize.

In all, the members have all done splendid work. The parents and friends in the community have showed a great deal of interest in the work and gave us their cooperation in every way possible. We wish to thank Miss Anderson, County Club Agent, and Mr. Roth, County Agent, for their help and advice. It was very much appreciated. We are all hoping for a bigger and better club next year.

(By Mrs. John Gibson, leader, Gilbert Lake 4-H club.)

The Ross Lake 4-H club was re-organized in February with an enrollment of thirteen members. We had nine meetings, including a picnic held at Roger Lake with the Perry Lake 4-H club, at which time about one hundred and twenty-five people attended. We also had a basket social, and raised $25.73. A kittenball team was formed, and the club purchased a ball and bat. Expenses of the club members at the County Fair who did not take livestock projects were paid from the club treasury. We had demonstrations in canning, bread and cake baking. Splendid cooperation was obtained from Miss Anderson, our County Club Agent, who taught us many things, and we only hope she can be with us next year.

(By Mrs. Geo. Moritz, leader, Ross Lake 4-H club.)

4-H Club Rally Day will be held at the Farmers' Room, Court House, Brainerd, starting at 1:30 p. m., Saturday, November 14, and every 4-H club leader is urged to be there with as many of the club members from their group as can attend. T. A. Erickson, State Club Leader, will be speaker for the day.

Rally Day means the finishing up of our club year, and also marks the beginning of a new club year. The Silver Cup donated by the Deerwood Commercial club for the club scoring the highest number of points will be awarded on that date. An award will be made to the outstanding Junior Leader of the county, also, short talks will be given by the members winning trips this year.

Mildred Club to Have Program, Box Supper

Mildred—Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Maime motored up from Milwaukee Saturday to spend their honeymoon with his sister, Mrs. Wm. Evans.

An enjoyable Halloween party was held at the Hoover home Saturday evening, the occasion also being Mrs. Hoover's and Raymond Swartz's birthday.

Ford Rowell has moved to the farm vacated by Wm. Evans.

The Leshers attended a Halloween social given by the pupils of the Clough school and their teacher Miss Margaret McCabe and at the close of the program Leshers auctioned off the baskets.

Next Friday evening is the regular meeting of the Mildred Farmers club and the teachers and pupils will have charge of the program. At the close of the program there will be a box supper. The proceeds will be used in buying Christmas treats. Every one is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer entertained a number of their neighbors Saturday evening.

The V. A. Reed family and Marie Knutson were Brainerd shoppers Saturday.

Brings Guest for Week-end Visit at Home

Roosevelt—Earl Cofield arrived home from Minneapolis Friday evening accompanied by Elwood Verner also of Minneapolis.

Among those that were Brainerd callers Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schellin and Will Fahneschik.

Mr. and Mrs. George Byer of Camp Lake called at the Cofield home Friday.

Mrs. Henry Mangold visited at the home of Mrs. Cofield Monday afternoon.

Not a very large crowd attended the Halloween party at the Mangold home Saturday night. Their home was nicely trimmed in Halloween trimmings.

Fay Cooley, Gene Cooley and Mildred Cooley called at the Cofield home Friday evening.

Floyd and Serge Cofield and their sister, Anna Mae, were callers in Brainerd Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Byer motored to St. Paul the first part of last week on a short visit.

Lorna and Bernice Cooley spent the weekend at the home of their mother, Mrs. Mangold.

Rubber pneumatic tires are replacing the steel wheels on railroad motor cars now in service on a French line.

The great majority of rayon manufactured in the United States comes from wood pulp, especially from spruce. It is hoped to utilize cotton cellulose for this purpose in the near future.

WINNING OF 14 AWARDS AT FAIR HIGHLIGHT OF DAGGETT BROOK 4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

Summarized reports, written by the Senior Leader, of the accomplishments of their 4-H club during the year is as follows:

The Daggett Brook 4-H club was organized last April. This is our first year in club work, but nevertheless our club has accomplished a great deal, which will benefit all the members of the club, and in turn benefits our community and our country.

Fifteen members enrolled and the boys and girls took up the following projects: sewing I and III, canning, bread and cake baking, thrift, home beautification, gardening, potato raising, sheep, and dairy calf. All members of our club completed their projects in the required time which is a credit to both the individual and the 4-H club.

Our club won the first prize offered by the Crow Wing County Farm Bureau in obtaining the most number of Farm Bureau memberships, thereby winning $10. We won first prize on our club booth at the County Fair, entitling us to another $10.

At the County Fair our club won fourteen first prizes, nine second prizes, four third prizes, and one fifth prize, making a total of 28 prizes. Earl Richardson won the first prize on his sheep and this entitled him to a free trip to the Junior Livestock Show, November 2-5, at South St. Paul. Elsie Every, one of our leading club members, won many prizes in her bread baking project. She was one of the winners in our Achievement Day program, thereby winning a free trip to the Minnesota State Fair. Miss Every demonstrated at the County Fair and won first prize, and although she was not a winner at the State Fair, she accomplished a great deal.

The members of our club have been very regular in attending our meetings, taking part in special events, and have cooperated with their leader, Mrs. Raymond Klenow, to make this a successful year in 4-H club work. Earl Richardson was their leader when the club first organized. We believe club work has taught us to be independent, honest, and to make the best. The following members won prizes at the County Fair:

Elsie Every—1st prize on graham bread, raisin bread, parkerhouse rolls and carrots. 2nd prize on beets and peaches. 3rd prize on apricots.

June Whitman—2nd prize on sewing I.

Mildred Vanderwerker—2nd prize on sewing III. 3rd prize on sweet peas. 2nd prize in style show.

Marjorie Gordon—3rd prize on dark cake.

Donald Caughy—1st prize on Irish Cobblers. 1st prize on parsnips. 2nd prize on winter radishes.

Freddie Caughy—1st prize on onion. 1st prize on winter radishes.

Thelma Ford—1st prize on Swiss chard. 1st prize on sewing I. 2nd prize on beans.

Vera Ford—2nd prize on Swiss chard. Dora Maust—1st prize on cucumbers. 2nd prize on tomatoes.

Rachel Racine—3rd prize on thrift sewing.

Everett Racine—1st prize on sheep.

Franklin Ringering—5th prize on Guernsey calf.

Alva Engelhart—1st prize on Triumph potatoes.

(By Mrs. Raymond Klenow, leader, Daggett Brook 4-H club.)

The Gilbert Lake 4-H club was reorganized on February 9, 1931, with an enrollment of seven members. The seven members carried sixteen projects. Every member finished their work and sent in their reports on time. Six regular meetings were held, and four demonstration meetings held at the homes by members of the demonstration teams. We had two demonstration teams: dairy calf and home beautification. Both won prizes at the County Fair, and one cake and one bread individual demonstrator.

We composed a song and yell for our club, also a song and yell to be used in the county. Our girls put on a stunt at the County Fair, also a project booth and helped with the State Fair booth. All members were in attendance at County Fair and Achievement Day. Two members attended the camp at Pequot. Carl Lovsted attended the Junior Short Course and Leo Miller won Grand Championship on his gardening collection at the County Fair, and his garden display at the State Fair won 4th prize.

In all, the members have all done splendid work. The parents and friends in the community have showed a great deal of interest in the work and gave us their cooperation in every way possible. We wish to thank Miss Anderson, County Club Agent, and Mr. Roth, County Agent, for their help and advice. It was very much appreciated. We are all hoping for a bigger and better club next year.

(By Mrs. John Gibson, leader, Gilbert Lake 4-H club.)

The Ross Lake 4-H club was reorganized in February with an enrollment of thirteen members. We had nine meetings, including a picnic held at Roger Lake with the Perry Lake 4-H club, at which time about one hundred and twenty-five people attended. We also had a basket social, and raised $25.73. A kittenball team was formed, and the club purchased a ball and bat. Expenses of the club members at the County Fair who did not take livestock projects were paid from the club treasury. We had demonstrations in canning, bread and cake baking. Splendid cooperation was obtained from Miss Anderson, our County Club Agent, who taught us many things, and we only hope she can be with us next year.

(By Mrs. Geo. Moritz, leader, Ross Lake 4-H club.)

4-H Club Rally Day will be held at the Farmers' Room, Court House, Brainerd, starting at 1:30 p. m., Saturday, November 14, and every 4-H club leader is urged to be there with as many of the club members from their group as can attend. T. A. Erick-

Here's Latest in Rocket Design

Canabuck, Germany—Many are the types of rockets devised in this country, "the chief experimenter in this line of propulsion. The latest is a type of rocket glider.

The rocket model has wings and is placed in a starting position with its wings folded back close to the fuselage so that resistance is reduced to a minimum during its upward flight.

When the peak of its upward momentum is reached, the wings of the rocket automatically extend outward and adjust themselves to glider position. From this time on the model glides down along a normal gliding path just like an ordinary glider.

At the end of 1930 there were 2,625, 600 electric refrigerators in operation in the United States.

Never Dangerous to Cure Eczema

That's What Doctors Say—

Some people have an idea that it is dangerous to try to cure eczema—that the "poison" will go through your system.

That is all wrong, doctors say. Nobody knows exactly what causes eczema, but plenty of folks know how to stop it—how to get relief that's nothing short of magic.

Eczema—tetter—salt—rheum—no matter what you call it, no matter how long you've had it, nor how many things you have tried—

When it itches so it almost drives you crazy—when you think you just can't stand it another second—put some Moone's Emerald Oil on it.

If that doesn't give you—instantly—greater relief than anything you've ever tried, money back.

Don't be afraid of its hurting you or your clothes—use lots of it. And remember that Johnson's Pharmacy, Economy Drug Co., H. P. Dunn, druggist, and every first class druggist guarantees it—Adv.

How Much Would You Pay To Be Rid of Rheumatic Pains in 48 Hours?

Would You Pay Ten Dollars? — Would You Pay 85 Cents?

Well: Here's a chance for you to be spry once more—to do your work cheerfully without one twinge of pain.

Here's a positive guarantee that no rheumatism sufferer can afford to pass up—you can be free from agonizing rheumatism—and keep free from it.

Get one 85 cent bottle of Allenru from Johnson's Pharmacy, Economy Drug Co. or any progressive druggist with the positive and distinct understanding that your pains and torture will all be gone in 48 hours or money back.

And when pains are gone—keep right on taking Allenru till every bit of harmful uric acid is out of your body—Happiness comes with this wonderful prescription—thousands know it—you ought to know it—Adv.

Free Test Rescues You From Billious Attacks

All you want is relief, and here it is. Permanent prevention, too! Darc's Mentha Pepsin positively stops the pain in 10 minutes—stops the nausea—stops the dizziness. Puts you back on your feet in less time than it takes to tell it—or the test costs you nothing for Skauge Drug Co. will refund your money.

The same does before meals—two tablespoons—swiftly corrects the trouble in stomach and bowels that is making you "bilious." Your escape from the torture of bilious headaches is permanent.

Skauge Drug Co., a druggist whom you know and trust, guarantees Darc's Mentha Pepsin. He gives you his word that if it does not bring you quick, lasting relief, he won't keep a cent of the money you paid for it—Adv.

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL

No. 3599

State of Minnesota, County of Crow Wing, ss. In the Matter of the Estate of A. M. Peterson, deceased.

Whereas, Maurice Peterson, of the Town of Oak Lawn, in said County and State, has deposited in this Court an instrument in writing purporting to be the Last Will and Testament of A. M. Peterson, also known as Andrew M. Peterson, late of the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, together with his petition praying that said instrument be allowed and admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be granted thereon to A. M. Opsahl, which instrument and petition are on file in this Court and open to inspection;

It is Ordered, That said petition be heard on the 30th day of November, 1931, at ten o'clock A. ## 800 POUNDS LUTEFISK TO BE SERVED ANNUAL FEAST HERE "NORSKIES" AT

Raise Funds for Yule Program and Gifts

Eight hundred pounds of lutefisk will be prepared and served at the 14th annual lutefisk dinner and supper sponsored by the Men's club of the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church in the church basement Saturday, Nov. 7.

Dinner will be served from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. and supper from 5 p. m. until all have eaten their fill.

If the meals are as popular as in former years hundreds of people in Brainerd and community will sit down to tables heaped high with dishes of lutefisk, lefse, flatbread, melted butter, mashed potatoes, cream gravy, light and dark bread, jelly, pickles, cake, cookies, fattigmand, and coffee.

To those artists of dining room favor who served so successfully in the past will again be vested with the responsibilities of catering. Everyone on this occasion will become Scandinavian minded and praise the taste of lutefisk—and enjoy it. The committee in charge consists of C. J. Walstad, Ole Holm, Casper Olson, Arne Dybvik, Lars Meas and Helmer Dybvik.

And here's some information for the believe it or not column supplied by the alert committee advertising this function:

"Lutefisk was first brought to the American continent by the famous morse viking, Leif Erickson about the year 1000 A. D. It was later introduced in Crow Wing county by John Holvick. Of recent years millions of lutefisk fry have been planted in the lakes of the Brainerd district by Ole Larson and Ole Skillestad."

PREDICTS NEW HUNT FOR GOLD IN AREA NEAR BLACK HILLS

Rapid City, Minn.—(AP)—A new gold rush, but scientific and intelligent as compared to previous frenzied fights for the yellow metal was predicted today for the Black Hills within the next decade by Bancroft Gore, department head of metallurgical engineering at the State School of Mines.

Because the mining of other ores is being retarded because of overproduction, interest in gold mining is becoming more and more concentrated, Gore said. Gore said that less activity is forecast in the mining of copper, lead, zinc and other minerals and this activity will be transferred to gold mining.

"Large concerns of the United States that have dealt exclusively in other metals are now turning their attention to gold," he declared. "They have turned their scouts loose in the gold fields and already some of the best-known companies have become large gold producers."

With the increased interest in gold mining in this country, the Black Hills will come in for its share of activity, Gore said.

"Everything is now ripe for such an increase," he declared. During the war and right after the war many mines were forced to shut down because of the high price of labor, but now labor and materials are again cheap, and companies will take advantage of the times, Gore said.

Fifteen years ago there were a number of mining properties in the Black Hills, including the Trojan, the Mail-land and others that were producing several thousands of dollars in gold every year, and these companies and others like them will take advantage of low operating costs and improved equipment and will resume operations, Gore said.

128 COLLEGES TO AID RELIEF FUNDS IN CHARITY GAMES

MANY OFFER ENTIRE
PROCEEDS OF GAMES
FOR CHARITY RELIEFOTHERS PLAN TO TURN OVER
PART OF RECEIPTS FOR THE RELIEF OF UNEMPLOYED

New York, Nov. 5.—(UP)—With 128 colleges responding affirmatively to the call of President Hoover's committee on unemployment relief, football promises to make a worthwhile contribution toward emergency relief work.

Largest Movement Ever Attempted
The mobilization of college football teams for charity games is the largest organized charity movement ever attempted in sports and is expected to provide more than $250,000 for unemployment relief.

E. K. Hall of Hanover, chairman of the National Collegiate Football association rules committee and who was appointed by Owen D. Young to direct the football charity project, announced today through the United Press that 128 schools already have agreed to play charity games, and that "literally hundreds of other colleges and schools through the country will have their part in this project."

A total of 53 teams already have arranged special charity games, Hall revealed, and 27 are attempting to arrange contests. Seven other schools will donate net proceeds of single regularly scheduled games and 11 schools will donate a percentage of receipts at single games.

List of Colleges
Colleges already scheduled for charity games are:

East—Army, Navy, Yale, Brown, Holy Cross, Dartmouth, Providence, Rhode Island State, Columbia, Princeton, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Union, Rensselaer, Davis & Elkins, Pittsburgh, Duquesne, Carnegie Tech, Penn State, Lehigh, Long Island University, St. Johns.

Colleges which plan to give a percentage of the proceeds of a regular game are: Holy Cross, Boston College, Amherst, Williams, Manhattan, C. C. N. Y., Hobart, Worcester Tech, Rochester University, Yankton College, University of Virginia.

In addition, special games will be played by the Chicago Bears, Chicago Cardinals and Cleveland Indians professional teams.

FALLS AND AITKIN
CLASH FRIDAY IN
GRID HEADLINERBOTH ELEVENS UNDEFEATED; COUNT C-I AMONG THE VANQUISHED

Aitkin and Little Falls, two undefeated high school elevens, will clash Friday in a game that virtually represents the football championship of the district. The contest will take place at Aitkin.

Both teams count among their notable victories, wins over Crosby-Iron-ton this year.

Little Falls on paper appears the favorite to win. The downriver team has won seven straight games, has scored a total of 226 points to opponents' nine and has chalked up five shutouts this season. The Falls team shutout C-I last Saturday 13 to 0.

Leonard Returns to Exhibition Boxing

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(UP)—Barred from fighting in New York, Massachusetts, Illinois and Pennsylvania, Benny Leonard has returned to exhibition boxing. The retired undefeated lightweight champion made a favorable showing last night in a six round exhibition with Mickey Ashline.

Gophers Entrain Tonight for Northwestern Battle Saturday

Minnesota and Northwestern football teams, tied at two conference victories and no defeats, meet Nov. 7 with the Big Ten championship at stake. Some of the Minnesota stars are shown above.

INJURIES DAMPEN
GOPHERS' CHANCES
IN CRUCIAL CLASHSOMERS AND MacDOUGALL TAKE THINGS EASILY AT PRACTICE WEDNESDAY

Minneapolis, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Minnesota's football squad will leave tonight for its all-important game against Northwestern which should decide the western conference championship.

The Gophers and the Wildcats are the only undefeated teams in the Big Ten and the victors are expected to come through the rest of the season unbeaten if they win Saturday.

Sters Work Out Lightly
Minnesota will go to Evanston with a number of crimples. The Gophers' victory over Wisconsin last Saturday took a toll of injuries. The line has been harder hit by injuries than the backfield which includes such stars as Captain Clarence Munn, one of the leading punters in the Big Ten who has shifted to the backfield from guard; Jack Manders, flashy back who ran 55 yards for Minnesota's first touchdown against Wisconsin; Ken MacDougall, who flashing through the Iowa team two weeks ago with ease on long runs which netted a 24 to 0 victory when the game was finished, Pete Somers and My Uhl.

However, Somers and MacDougall took things easy at yesterday's practice because of injuries. They are both expected to play in the Northwestern game.

Other regulars who did not take part in the heavy scrimmage yesterday included Marshall Wells, Brad Robinson, Roy Oen and Sulo Koski, all of whom made the Gophers' line the solid wall that it was in the two conference victories that Minnesota has won.

Kenneth Gay started at tackle for Wells, Lloyd Stein at center for Oen, Mervin Dillner for Robinson at end and Art Meyers for Koski.

Perfect Aerial Attack

In last night's scrimmage, the Gophers were able to make consistent gains through the freshmen using Northwestern plays.

Indications that the Gophers will take to the air Saturday were seen today in the stress which Coach Fritz Crisler placed on the development of new forward pass plays. Considerable time also was spent perfecting the lateral pass play used effectively against Wisconsin.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 5.—(UP)—Light workouts for the Northwestern Wildcats were scheduled for today and tomorrow in final preparation for Saturday's Minnesota game. "Reb" Russell, out of the lineup with injuries since the Nebraska game, was back in the fullback position during a hard scrimmage yesterday. Ken Meehan, who injured his ribs in practice before the Ohio State game, also was reported in excellent condition for the Gopher game.

JONES SEES SCANDAL INVOLVING WILDCATS
IN ANSWER TO HANLEY'S PROTEST OF SHIFT

By PAUL JONES

When a coach stoops to the smallness of protesting the Gophers' shift that Hanley is, it is just to weaken the Gophers' playing in the Northwestern game. Crisler has the playing of the Gopher shift so well numbered in counts before the shift that there is no way possible for an official to get the count on them. Article 5, Rule 7 states but one second pause on all shifts, and the Gophers do that in their style of playing by counting 1, 2 and 3 on each shift.

According to a Minneapolis paper today who in the past has done the same as Hanley. Just Mr. Yost of Michigan. The same school that has officials in the Big Ten that let every team play dirty, unethical football, but watches Minnesota and does nothing to the offenders. We expect this of Michigan.

Right here I would like to say that at the close of the season, a big scandal is going to crop out about the Northwestern team. Why hasn't Coach Hanley been as honest to watch the eligibility of his team as he watches the timing of plays of the opponents? This time let's clean up the Big Ten. In the process let's put out Commissioner Griffith, head of the Big Ten. He has shown what has gone on since his regime that he has been unworthy of the position. He has not looked over his officials or attempted when notified of players playing on various teams as proselytizing of players, to clean them up.

I don't know who the officials are for the Northwestern game Saturday but if Illinois or Michigan men we can be assured that Minnesota will get the worst of it. The Gophers' unexpected rise to a contender does not fit so well with the other teams, so naturally the officials decide if possible who will win in any games the Gophers play.

The Gophers don't need the Big Ten and the quicker they withdraw the better. There are plenty of teams to play around this territory to do us for seasons to come, just as good as the conference offers, and not make all the trips away as we do when we play Michigan. We have always been forced to take three or four tough games in a row or not play. Illinois wouldn't play us since the Grange affair at Minneapolis in '24 because they had an idea they could beat us. When such was not the case the result was, dirty playing of Grange. So much was said that Mr. Walsh of some newspaper syndicate followed the Illinois team to Pennsylvania the following year and wrote the Illinois team of playing the dirtiest ball he had ever seen.

I am glad all this came about. Maybe now we will clean our college football as it should be. While the Rockefeller report on college football was off more than right, the gist of the report was correct. Few colleges are honest and the work of the officials spoil the game with their prejudices.

Skunk Breaks Adage of Offense, Defense

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5.—(UP)—This football theory that the best defense is a good offense goes all to pieces when you find a skunk in tailback position in the front yard, George E. Little, University of Wisconsin athletic director, found today.

Little cut short his scouting when he decided the animal's reserve strength too strong and made a wide end run around the house, intending to employ a delayed attack.

A crowd of curbstone coaches gathered to watch the game.

The Little forces finally overwhelmed the visitors when a patrolman plunged through and shot the beast.

BATTALINO BATTERS
EARL MASTRO FOR
10-ROUND DECISIONFEATHERWEIGHT CHAMP RALLIES
STRONGLY IN LAST TWO ROUNDS TO GAIN VERDICT

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Christopher (Bat) Battalino, a rough and tumble back alley fighter who can take it and give it, today prepared to take his featherweight title back to Hartford, Conn., with him after turning back the challenge of Earl Mastro of Chicago.

The bushy-haired Hartford boy was too rough and too tough for Mastro and was awarded a 10-round decision over him before 15,000 persons in the Chicago stadium last night. The paid attendance was 14,022 and the gross gate receipts $40,353.

It took every sharp tactic known to the boxing game for Battalino to retain his title against the young Chicago boy. The decision was not unanimous, Referee Dave Barry and one judge voted for Battalino and the other judge called it a draw. Barry's vote was 51-49 and the judge who voted for Battalino scored it 52-48. Battalino weighed 125½, Mastro 124½.

Going into the ninth round, Mastro, who had successfully weathered Battalino's butting, cuffing, shoving and other similar rough tactics, was ahead on points. Battalino, however, rallied strongly in the last two rounds, won them both and successfully defended his title for the fifth time in two years.

The proposed field house will be built on the University of Notre Dame campus in memory of the famous coach.

Carnera to Meet
Campolo at Garden

New York, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Primo Carnera of Italy will meet Victorio Campolo of Argentina in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden, Nov. 27, for the "dreadnaught heavyweight" or "super bum" world's championship. If successful against Campolo, Carnera will defend his title in February against Ray Impellegere at Daytona, Fla.

Contracts were signed yesterday. The show will be staged for the benefit of the Jewish Federated Charities. The Carnera-Impel match was arranged by Billy Duffy, Carnera's American manager. Duffy plans to build an outdoor arena in Florida and to stage regular shows during the winter. Impel, a 21-year-old youngster, whose 275 pounds and 67½ inches of height makes him the biggest man in the ring, agreed to make 270 pounds for Carnera.

Carnera to Meet Campolo at Garden

New York, Nov. 5.—(U.P.)—Primo Carnera of Italy will meet Victorio Campolo of Argentina in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden, Nov. 27, for the "dreadnaught heavyweight" or "super bum" world's championship.

If successful against Campolo, Carnera will defend his title in February against Ray Impelligere at Daytona, Fla.

Contracts were signed yesterday. The show will be staged for the benefit of the Jewish Federated Charities. The Carnera-Impel match was arranged by Billy Daffy. Carnera's American manager, Duffy plans to build an outdoor arena in Florida and to stage regular shows during the winter. Impel, a 21-year-old youngster, whose 275 pounds and 67½ inches of height makes him the biggest man in the ring, agreed to make 270 pounds for Carnera.

U. S. exports to Russia this summer more than doubled. In one month that country bought $12,618,950 worth of material from us.

PROTECTIVE CLUB PLANS PROGRAM--

The Crow Wing County Protective Club has outlined an ambitious program for the coming year. And, one that includes several projects that should command the indorsement of every supporter of conservation and reforestation.

That Brainerd and Crow Wing county have men of vision and knowledge to know what should be done and the aggressive-ness to see that it will be done is gleaned from the following program of resolutions outlined by the club:

Sanction of the petition and move underway by lake shore property owners to divert the course of Pelican Creek so that the water will flow through and raise the waters of Pelican, Markee, Lougie, Perch, Edwards, Long, Round and Gull lakes.

Protest of the limiting of the duck season to 30 days, thus preventing future legislation of similar nature.

Protest against closing of Long Lake, branch of Bay Lake because of so-called tame fish but not objecting to reservation of a portion of the lake for the protection of so-called tame fish.

Application to the State Game and Fish Department for 200 pheasants and 100 Hungarian partridge.

Motion recommending to the State Game and Fish Department the establishment of a new district known as the Gull Lake Chain District and the appointment of a game warden to patrol the district exclusively.

Motion that the club urge the department to establish more fish hatcheries in Crow Wing county.

Authorization of the reduction of membership fees and the conducting of a membership drive.

Copies of the protest by the club against a short duck season were ordered sent to the State Game and Fish Department, The State Agricultural Department and Congressman Harold Knutson.

The club adopted a resolution urging the State Game and Fish Department to furnish free copies of "Fins, Feathers and Furs" to rural schools of the county, a list of schools and addresses to be furnished by the club.

Sensational rise of wheat and the fact that it is holding is indeed encouraging. There is no doubt but what it embodies causes for general optimism. Of course, the cause for the unprecedented rise in recent years can be traced to many factors but, as a matter of fact, experts have said that it resulted from too many of them. This may give rise to general condemnation of the opinion of experts who, obviously, are as much in the dark about the whole wheat situation as the average layman. However, any way you look at the price impetus brings a thrill of enthusiasm of pre-depression days.

A CHARITY GAME IN BRAINERD--

If you remember war days, you also recall how the spirit of neighborliness swept through the country.

It is contagious, that spirit of neighborliness. But it is also true that the spirit of self-protection is pretty contagious, too. In times of stress, men feel closer to each other.

Doubtless you have seen this: two men are passing a beggar on the streets and one turns and drops a coin into his hand. Suddenly his companion gives also, though perhaps his intention was to pass the man unnoticed.

Charity, which after all is only a high idea of sportsmanship, is best taught by example. A man sitting tight upon a pile of money bags hasn't much chance of convincing anybody by logic alone that he ought to help relieve the poor.

That is just where colleges and high schools come in. Owen D. Young, chairman of President Hoover's committee for the relief of those people impoverished by inability to find work, has asked that every college and university and, we might add every high school to this statement, donate the proceeds of at least one game to relieve the suffering that winter just ahead is going to bring.

Schools have a specific task in educating the young. This is not to be done by books alone. Part of the responsibility is in example.

Shall colleges, universities, high schools teach selfishness? Why couldn't the Brainerd high school sponsor a benefit football or basketball game for the benefit of the Brainerd Community Relief fund? Primarily, we believe that a basketball game would be the better bet in that it would attract a larger crowd and therefore turn a larger sum over to the relief fund.

An early season game would, in our opinion, prove doubly interesting, both from an entertainment and from a financial angle with regard to the relief fund. School officials might well take this under consideration.

ANTIDOTE FOR COMMUNISM--

The president-general of the D. A. R. relieved her mind the other day of the statement that something has got to be done to save American children from Communism. The Communistic "Young Pioneers" movement, she said, is understood to have enrolled over a million American children; some sort of counter-offensive must be started or red radicalism will do us all kinds of dirt.

It is perfectly true that the Young Pioneers movement is hardly a beneficent one. It is likewise true that the lady's request for added support for more respectable organizations for the children is quite proper. But if Communism is really endangering the nation, the menace won't be met that way.

Broadly speaking, the prevalence of Communism in any country depends on the extent to which the average citizen feels that he is getting a square deal. There is no antidote for Communism equal to a well-paid job. If the ordinary man is getting treated fairly, no one need worry about Communism; if he isn't, spooning out propaganda to the children won't help much.

The theatrical magazine, Variety, reports that Hollywood studios are preparing to concoct a number of movies dealing with Russia—and are doing it with a good deal of nervousness and uneasiness.

It is the difficulty of steering a safe middle course that causes the hesitancy. On one hand, the studios have no desire whatever to issue films that could be construed as propaganda for the Soviets. On the other hand, their executives fear that if the pictures displease radical groups in this country the theaters that exhibit them may get into trouble.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Rich old Mrs. JUPITER is robbed and murdered during the engagement party she gave for her secretary, MARY HARKNESS. The thief takes to the famous Jupiter necklace. Suspicion points to Mary's brother, EDDIE, who is killed by a car as he goes to meet her. Police detect the case, following Eddie guilty. BOWEN, police reporter for the Star, conducts a private investigation. He discovers a racketeer crook called THE FLY to whom Eddie owed money. Eddie's coat, found in the house, is recognized by the butler as one worn by a "gate-crasher" he elected the night of the murder. Mary's fiancé, DIRK RUYTHER, believes Eddie guilty and forbids her to see Bowen, fearing further notoriety. They quarrel but make up and plan to marry at once. Mary meets Bowen in a speakeasy where The Fly is said to be hiding. Dirks comes to take her home. He is on his way to look up the Jupiter necklace in his office safe. Dirks proves The Fly is not there. Mary claps the necklace about her throat just as three strangers enter.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XX

BOWEN and Dirks followed Mary's eyes and saw the newcomers, too, almost before she could tear her fascinating gaze from theirs. Although, strictly speaking, none of the three men were looking at her, but at the necklace gleaming like new blood against the snowy velvet of her evening jacket. She had drawn it about her swiftly but clumsily. The greater portion of the necklace swung outside.

"Don't go now, I'll look as if we're running," Bowen said quietly, almost without moving his lips.

They sat in petrified silence a few minutes, each with his own whirling thoughts, making half-hearted conversation. The party at the opposite table ordered drinks, talked in low tones, and otherwise comforted themselves in an ordinary manner.

Mary sneaked glances at them out of the corners of her eyes. Was one of them the Fly? All three were dark; one quite handsome. He was the one who had jumped to his feet. Had they been in the small dining room and left, returning by the front door? They might be quite different men, perfectly harmless customers of the place, like themselves. Although "perfectly harmless" was a strong designation for any of Jack Shay's customers, if the place was really the criminals' hang-out Bowen had said.

Adroitly she managed to push the necklace out of sight, covering it with the collar of her wrap. As the party at the opposite table made no overt move, even failed to look in their direction again, Mary said restlessly:

"We may as well go. They know we were about to leave, they saw me put my wrap on."

The waiter, who had been nowhere in sight a few minutes before, now stood leaning with arms crossed against a dilapidated sideboard which stood against the back wall. His face was nearly without expression as such a sinister countenance could manage to be. Although he kept his eyes fixed assiduously on a spot halfway between their table and the strangers' table, Bowen had the feeling that he was all attention, waiting to be signalled for.

He held up his finger, and Mike came swiftly forward.

"Check, please!" Bowen said in a carrying voice. Mike fumbled for his pad. Before he could find it, Bowen whispered, "Put it on the cuff and I'll see you later. Tell Jack tomorrow's payday. I'll be around."

Mike nodded wordlessly.

Dirk said, "I'll pay," and reached for his billfold, but Bowen held his arm goodnaturedly.

"Let it lay," he said, under his breath. "I want to keep Welcome on the doormat here, and as long as I owe him money Jack will let me in. I've got a hunch Jack is going to get one of his periodic mads on at newspapermen in general, and me in particular, after tonight. Every once in a while he gets the notion that it's the newspapermen that are to blame for all his troubles, and refuses to let one on the premises. I don't want that to happen right now."

Mike would have moved off, but Bowen detained him.

"Is that him?" he asked softly.

"Yes. Yes. I tell him. Thank you!" Mike answered, making significant facial contortions, and palming a coin Bowen handed him. He hurried away before any more could be said.

So one of those men was the Fly! Mary had become adept in reading Mike's peculiar form of sign-language, and no wonder, for his pantomime was more exaggerated than subtle. As an actor, Mike was pretty much of a "mugger." As long as he kept his back turned to the enemy, however, he was safe.

Dirk said, "Ready?" Mary, powdering her nose, nodded.

"All right, Gloria," Bowen said meaningfully. They all got up and moved toward the door, Dirk leading, Mary following, and Bowen bringing up the rear. Mike leaped into action with exaggerated servility, coming forward to open the door and said, "Good night."

Once outside, Mary sagged against Dirk's arm. But when he looked at her sharply, in quick fear that she was about to faint, he saw that she was shaking with silent laughter. Hysterical! He gripped her arm tightly and snarled at Bowen, "I hope to God you're satisfied!"

"Honey, I'm not having hysterics, honest!" Mary giggled. "It's just the let-down. I never was so thrilled in my life! Wouldn't have missed it for anything!"

"Perhaps it will amuse you to know there was nothing to miss," Dirk said sharply. "You don't believe all this claptrap, do you? Three drummers from Terre Haute or some such place, making the rounds of the speakeries, and you let this clown feed you a wild story about murderers and jewel-robbers. You've been reading too much Edgar Wallace, boy. Keep it to yourself after this, will you?"

Bowen turned white, but whether with anger or shame, Mary could not tell.

"Have it your own way," he said quietly. "Good night, Miss Harkness. If there's anything I can do—" He lifted his hat. Undecided what to say or do, Mary kept discreetly silent, but her eyes pleaded an apology.

Dirk gripped Mary's arm and led her to the curb where his coupe stood. Several car-lengths away stood Bowen's rattlerap. He started to go toward it, then turned and came up to the coupe and leaned through the open window.

"Got a gun?" he asked.

Dirk snorted.

"No, Al Capone, I have not," he said. "And what of it?"

With a quick gesture Bowen drew an automatic out of his pocket and handed it into the car, butt first.

Even Dirk was touched, disconcerted, for a minute. Then he said with good-natured scorn, "Oh, keep it! What if somebody does plug me? You'll get a good story."

Bowen's temper gave way.

"I don't give a damn what happens to you," he said roughly. "But you've got a woman with you, remember. Take this whether you want it or not."

HE shoved the gun into Dirk's lap and swung off. As they moved down the street, Bowen's little tin-can of a car began to shiver and roar and give off explosions like a Fourth of July rocket. When they turned into Broadway, Mary looked out the back window and saw it turn, also, apparently following them. It was easily picked out in the traffic, for its top was up—a flimsy "one-man" top which had apparently been added to its accoutrements since she rode in it. Its curtains were all drawn against the rain.

Something about that grotesque equipage and its owner wrung Mary's heart and anger flooded her.

"I think you're a beast!" she said to Dirk. "You shouldn't have talked to him like that! Maybe Mike lied to him, but I'm sure he didn't mean to lie to us!"

Mary told him what she knew of Mike, and explained that he owed service to Bowen for favors done in the past.

"You mean," Dirk said slowly, meaningfully, "that all this so-called evidence he's got that a man named the Fly, (he grimaced and muttered, "more Edgar Wallace!") robbed that house, killed Mrs. Jupiter and then ran your brother down presumably to keep him from telling, is the word of a double-starred yegg like that waiter?"

But that way, it did sound rather thin. Mary was rebelliously silent. Her state of mind was hard to explain, even to herself. She loved Dirk so much that just his physical presence beside her in the car, the touch of his coat-sleeve, his casual glance, weakened all her forces of mind and body. He dominated her and she could not help herself. . . . He was so calm, so utterly sure of himself and of the rightness of all he was and stood for.

But some traitorous part of herself persisted in believing that in his own way Bowen was right, also. Might there not be depths of life of which the select and exclusive Ruythers had no knowledge? Might there not be truth even in a "yegg" like Mike, if the claims of friendship demanded it?

And if she had ever been sure of anything in her life, she was positive that none of those men had been a drummer from Terre Haute, or anything like it. What had happened was clear enough—Jack Shay, still mulling over the significance of that afternoon's taxi crash, had carried the name "Harkness" back to his friends in that room, and asked if it meant anything to any of them.

It had meant a good deal to the Fly, naturally. He and his two companions had slipped out the side door and came in again by the front for the purpose of getting a look at her. It had been sheer bad luck that they had seen the necklace. But if Dirk hadn't said the room was empty, she wouldn't have been so foolhardy. But was it hard luck after all? That was what Bowen had wanted—to give the Fly a flash of the necklace. After that, they wouldn't be able to shake him off.

Fear grew in her. If Bowen's reasoning were true, then the Fly might be following them this very minute. Her hand closed convulsively about the necklace, and once more she turned to look back.

THEY were in lower Broadway now, in the manufacturing district, dark and comparatively deserted, heading for the Nassau street law office of Stephen Ruyther and Son. They were going along at about 45 miles an hour, but clinging tenaciously on their trail, about a block behind, was Bowen's machine, its "one-man top" swaying perilously in the breeze.

Dirk ducked his head and looked in the windshield mirror.

"Is that fool following us?" he asked disgustedly.

"Seems to be," was all she could say. Now, what was he doing that for? Was it possible that he, himself—no, he couldn't have had anything but the best of motives in mind, or he would not have given Dirk his revolver.

Nassau street was dark and its narrowness seemed to close in on Mary like the walls of a prison as they came to a stop before the small office building in which three generations of Ruythers had their offices.

"Cover that up," Dirk told her curtly, as he turned the key in the switch and locked the car. Holding the collar of her coat tightly across her throat with both hands, she got out and followed him into the building.

The lobby was dark except for a dim light way at the back, which proved to be a watch-light kept burning for safeguard in a little hole-in-the-wall jewelry shop opening off the lobby. By its pale and ghostly radiance they found their way up the stairs—the elevator was a black, empty cavern which Mary hurried past with averted eyes.

Steps, steps, steps—arm in arm they went up, up, up, Mary's fingers fairly pinching Dirk's arm, so tense was their pressure. The stair-well was pitch black, but each landing place was faintly lightened from without by a tall, narrow window. On one of these Dirk bent his head and kissed her.

"Scared?" he asked. She could see well enough by this time to see that he was smiling fondly. She squeezed his arm tighter. "Awfully," she said. They did not seem to be in a hurry to go on. He held her against him for a breathless minute or two, and whispered, "It's been a long time. . . . That was one of their own particular jokes; sometimes they even said it between kisses, and it seemed terribly funny. It didn't seem funny now, for it had been a long time. . . . since last night, in fact. Two o'clock this morning, rather. Arms about each other, they went upstairs."

The blaze of light that followed when Dirk had opened the office door and punched the button was blinding. Mary threw up her hands to protect her eyes from it. Dirk went straight to the safe and began twirling the knob. Mary unfastened the ruby necklace, held it up for a last admiring glance, and put it into the soft leather bed he held out for it. He laid it away inside, shut the door and spun the knob.

"Phew!" he said, getting up and dusting off his hands. "Thank God that's done!" He made a pretense of mopping his fevered brow with a handkerchief. "Five more minutes with that thing on my mind, and I'd have buckled under the strain."

Mary lifted ironical eyebrows. "What? Surely you don't believe in such nonsense as thieves and things?"

Dirk was about to reply, when the very windows reverberated with the force of a crash in the street outside. Pausing only long enough to pick up the gun Bowen had given him, Dirk rushed to one of the windows which faced Nassau street, lifted it and looked out.

Mary meets Bowen in a speakeasy where THE FLY is said to be hiding. Dirk comes to take her home. He is on his way to go to the Jupiter necklace in his office safe. Dirk proves THE FLY is not there. Mary escapes the crook and her throat just as three strangers enter.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XX

BOWEN and Dirk followed Mary's eyes and saw the newcomers, too, almost before she could tear her fascinating gaze from theirs. Although, strictly speaking, none of the three men were looking at her, but at the necklace gleaming like new blood against the snowy velvet of her evening jacket. She had drawn it about her swiftly but clumsily. The greater portion of the necklace swung outside.

"Don't go now, it'll look as if we're running," Bowen said quietly, almost without moving his lips.

They sat in petrified silence a few minutes, each with his own whirling thoughts, making half-hearted conversation. The party at the opposite table ordered drinks, talked in low tones, and otherwise comforted themselves in an ordinary manner.

Mary sneaked glances at them out of the corners of her eyes. Was one of them the Fly? All three were dark; one quite handsome. He was the one who had jumped to his feet. Had they been in the small dining room and left, returning by the front door? They might be quite different men, perfectly harmless customers of the place, like themselves. Although "perfectly harmless" was a strong designation for any of Jack Shay's customers, if the place was really the criminals' hang-out Bowen had said.

Adroitly she managed to push the necklace out of sight, covering it with the collar of her wrap. As the party at the opposite table made no overt move, even failed to look in their direction again, Mary said restlessly:

"We may as well go. They know we were about to leave, they saw me put my wrap on."

The waiter, who had been nowhere in sight a few minutes before, now stood leaning with arms crossed against a dilapidated sideboard which stood against the back wall. His face was nearly without expression as such a sinister countenance could manage to be. Although he kept his eyes fixed astiduously on a spot halfway between their table and the strangers' table, Bowen had the feeling that he was all attention, waiting to be signalled for.

He held up his finger, and Mike came swiftly forward.

"Check, please!" Bowen said in a carrying voice. Mike fumbled for his pad. Before he could find it, Bowen whispered, "Put it on the cuff and I'll see you later. Tell Jack tomorrow's payday. I'll be around."

Mike nodded wordlessly.

Dirk said, "I'll pay," and reached for his billfold, but Bowen held his arm goodnaturedly.

"Let it lay," he said, under his breath. "I want to keep Welcome on the doormat here, and as long as I owe him money Jack will let me in. I've got a hunch Jack is going to get one of his periodic made-up on newspapermen in general, and me in particular, after tonight. Every once in a while he gets the notion that it's the newspapermen that are to blame for all his troubles, and refuses to let one on the premises. I don't want that to happen right now."

Mike would have moved off, but Bowen detained him.

"Is that him?" he asked softly.

"Yes. Yes. I tell him. Thank you!" Mike answered, making significant facial contortions, and palming a coin Bowen handed him. He hurried away before any more could be said.

So one of those men was the Fly! Mary had become adept in reading Mike's peculiar form of sign-language, and no wonder, for his pantomime was more exaggerated than subtle. As an actor, Mike was pretty much of a "mugger." As long as he kept his back turned to the enemy, however, he was safe.

Dirk said, "Ready?" Mary, powdering her nose, nodded.

"All right, Gloria," Bowen said meaningfully. They all got up and moved toward the door, Dirk leading, Mary following, and Bowen bringing up the rear. Mike leaped into action with exaggerated servility, coming forward to open the door and said, "Good night."

Once outside, Mary sagged against Dirk's arm. But when he looked at her sharply, in quick fear that she was about to faint, he saw that she was shaking with silent laughter. Hysterical! He gripped her arm tightly and snarled at Bowen, "I hope to God you're satisfied!"

"Honey, I'm not having hysterics, honest!" Mary giggled. "It's just the let-down. I never was so thrilled in my life! Wouldn't have missed it for anything!"

"Perhaps it will amuse you to know there was nothing to miss," Dirk said sharply. "You don't believe all this claptrap, do you? Three drummers from Terre Haute or some such place, making the rounds of the speakeasies, and you let this clown feed you a wild story about murderers and jewel-robbers. You've been reading too much Edgar Wallace, Bowen. Keep it to yourself after this, will you?"

Bowen turned white, but whether with anger or shame, Mary could not tell.

"Have it your own way," he said quietly. "Good night, Miss Harkness. If there's anything I can do—" He lifted his hat. Undecided what to say or do, Mary kept discreetly silent, but her eyes pleaded an apology.

Dirk gripped Mary's arm and led her to the curb where his coupe stood. Several car-lengths away stood Bowen's rattler. He started to go toward it, then turned and came up to the coupe and leaned through the open window.

"Got a gun?" he asked.

Dirk snorted.

"No, Al Capone, I have not," he said. "And what of it?"

With a quick gesture Bowen drew an automatic out of his pocket and handed it into the car, butt first.

Even Dirk was touched, disconcerted, for a minute. Then he said with good-natured scorn, "Oh, keep it! What if somebody does plug me? You'll get a good story."

Bowen's temper gave way.

"I don't give a damn what happens to you," he said roughly. "But you've got a woman with you, remember. Take this whether you want it or not."

HE shoved the gun into Dirk's lap and swung off. As they moved down the street, Bowen's little tin-can of a car began to shiver and roar and gave off explosions like a Fourth of July rocket. When they turned into Broadway, Mary looked out the back window and saw it turn, also, apparently following them. It was easily picked out in the traffic, for its top was up—a flimsy "one-man" top which had apparently been added to its accoutrements since she rode in it. Its curtains were all drawn against the rain.

Something about that grotesque equipage and its owner wrung Mary's heart and anger flooded her.

"I think you're a beast!" she said to Dirk. "You shouldn't have talked to him like that! Maybe Mike lied to him, but I'm sure he didn't mean to lie to us!"

"Mike? Who's Mike?"

Mary told him what she knew of Mike, and explained that he owed service to Bowen for favors done in the past.

"You mean," Dirk said slowly, meaningfully, "that all this so-called evidence he's got that man named the Fly," (he grimaced and muttered, "more Edgar Wallace!") "robbed that house, killed Mrs. Jupiter and then ran your brother down presumably to keep him from telling, is the word of a double-starred yegg like that waiter?"

Put that way, it did sound rather thin. Mary was rebelliously silent. Her state of mind was hard to explain, even to herself. She loved Dirk so much that just his physical presence beside her in the car, the touch of his coat-sleeve, his casual glance, weakened all her forces of mind and body. He dominated her and she could not help herself. . . .

But some traitorous part of herself persisted in believing that in his own way Bowen was right, also. Might there not be depths of life of which the select and exclusive Ruyters had no knowledge? Might there not be truth even in a "yegg" like Mike, if the claims of friendship demanded it?

And if she had ever been sure of anything in her life, she was positive that none of those men had been a drummer from Terre Haute, or anything like it. What had happened was clear enough—Jack Shay, still mulling over the significance of that afternoon's taxi crash, had carried the name "Harkness" back to his friends in that room, and asked if it meant anything to any of them.

It had meant a good deal to the Fly, naturally. He and his two companions had slipped out the side door and came in again by the front for the purpose of getting a look at her. It had been sheer bad luck that they had seen the necklace. But if Dirk hadn't said the room was empty, she wouldn't have been so foolhardy. But was it hard luck after all? That was what Bowen had wanted—to give the Fly a flash of the necklace. After that, they wouldn't be able to shake him off.

Fear grew in her. If Bowen's reasoning were true, then the Fly might be following them this very minute. Her hand closed convulsively about the necklace, and once more she turned to look back.

THEY were in lower Broadway now, in the manufacturing district, dark and comparatively deserted, heading for the Nassau street law office of Stephen Ruyther and Son. They were going along at about 45 miles an hour, but clinging tenaciously on their trail, about a block behind, was Bowen's machine, its "one-man top" swaying perilously in the breeze.

Dirk ducked his head and looked in the windshield mirror.

"Is that fool following us?" he asked disgustedly.

"Seems to be," was all she could say. Now, what was he doing that for? Was it possible that he, himself—no, he couldn't have had anything but the best of motives in mind, or he would not have given Dirk his revolver.

Nassau street was dark and its narrowness seemed to close in on Mary like the walls of a prison as they came to a stop before the small office building in which three generations of Ruythers had their offices.

"Cover that up," Dirk told her curtly, as he turned the key in the switch and locked the car. Holding the collar of her coat tightly across her throat with both hands, she got out and followed him into the building.

The lobby was dark except for a dim light way at the back, which proved to be a watch-light kept burning for safeguard in a little hole-in-the-wall jewelry shop opening off the lobby. By its pale and ghostly radiance they found their way up the stairs—the elevator was a black, empty cavern which Mary hurried past with averted eyes.

Steps, steps, steps—arm in arm they went up, up, up, Mary's fingers fairly pinching Dirk's arm, so tense was their pressure. The stair-well was pitch black, but each landing place was faintly lightened from without by a tall, narrow window. On one of these Dirk bent his head and kissed her.

"Scared?" he asked. She could see well enough by this time to see that he was smiling fondly. She squeezed his arm tighter. "Awfully," she said. They did not seem to be in a hurry to go on. He held her against him for a breathless minute or two, and whispered, "It's been a long time. . . . That was one of their own particular jokes; sometimes they even said it between kisses, and it seemed terribly funny. It didn't seem funny now, for it had been a long time. . . . since last night, in fact. Two o'clock this morning, rather. Arms about each other, they went upstairs."

The blaze of light that followed when Dirk had opened the office door and punched the button was blinding. Mary threw up her hands to protect her eyes from it. Dirk went straight to the safe and began twirling the knob. Mary unfastened the ruby necklace, held it up for a last admiring glance, and put it into the soft leather bag he held out for it. He laid it away inside, shut the door and spun the knob.

"Phew!" he said, getting up and dusting off his hands. "Thank God that's done!" He made a pretense of mopping his fevered brow with a handkerchief. "Five more minutes with that thing on my mind, and I'd have buckled under the strain."

Mary lifted ironical eyebrows. "What? Surely you don't believe in such nonsense as thieves and things?"

Dirk was about to reply, when the very windows reverberated with the force of a crash in the street outside. Pausing only long enough to pick up the gun Bowen had given him, Dirk rushed to one of the windows which faced Nassau street, lifted it and looked out.

Since human appetites are fickle it's almost impossible for the cook to gauge the exact amount of cereal that will be needed for breakfast. When a cereal has been cooked for four persons and only three want that particular breakfast porridge, the fourth portion must be taken care of in some fashion in order to avoid waste.

If a large amount is left, it can be molded, sliced and fried for luncheon or breakfast the next morning. A small amount, even as little as half a cup, can be used in a pudding.

Cereal puddings usually have much food value and should follow a light meal. The milk and eggs combined with the grain of the cereal furnish many calories of energy and fuel. If the meat course is light these calories will be needed to maintain an adequate diet.

Naturally, the finely milled and lightly parched cereals make more delicate puddings than the whole grain and well parched cereals. However, almost any kind of grain and condition of milling that is found in the ordinary to-be-cooked breakfast cereal can be used to good advantage in a pudding.

Cereal loaves suggest another possibility for the use of leftover cereal. Nuts and chopped vegetables can be used alone or in combination with a porridge. Milk is used for moisture and eggs to bind the whole, much as in a meat loaf.

Croquettes can be made, using equal parts of chopped meat and cooked cereal. Mix meat and cereal thoroughly, adding milk and egg if necessary to make mixture hold together. Shape roll in crumbs, dip in slightly beaten egg, roll again in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat.

Cereal is often used in place of bread crumbs in meat loaves.

Another excellent cereal combination is cereal and cheese. Molded in a shallow pan, the cereal is cut in squares and sprinkled with grated cheese when cool. These squares are arranged in a buttered baking dish and baked in a moderately hot oven until the cheese is melted. Cornmeal or a wheat cereal is particularly good prepared this way.

Cooked cereal can also be added to the batter for griddle cakes. One cup cold cooked cereal is added to 1 cup flour, 3-4 teaspoon soda, 1½ cups sour milk, 1 egg, and 1 tablespoon melted butter.

"Two Days to Merry," a three-act comedy drama will be staged at the Borden Lake school, one mile and a half north of Garrison on Highway No. 18 at 8 p. m., Friday, Nov. 6.

The play will be presented by the Borden Lake Dramatic Club directed by Harold Enius. Specialties and music will be given between the acts.

The cast as billed follows: Simon P. Chase, black as his race, played by Leonard Anderson; Emily Jane Pink, black as ink, played by Doris Anderson; James J. Dare, a wifeless heir, played by Harold Enius; Rushford B. Sawyer, a timid lawyer, played by Don McCalvy; Mrs. L. Boise, a widow by choice, played by Gertrude Etzler; Dorothy McCalvy who has the part of Imogene McShane, a sweet young thing, and Fred DeLane who appears as Walter M. Blair, the millionaire.

The little sundew plant of Newfoundland eats insects. When one alights on the little red hairs which cover the flower of the plant, it is caught by a sticky liquid. The hairs roll inward and drop off the insect in the center of the flower. Here it soon dies and is digested.
